DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statement filed December 18, 2001 has been entered and acknowledged.

Claim Objections

2. Claim 14 is objected to because of the following informalities: the phrase "...said stabilizer bar includes a division which splits said stabilizer bar into substantially equal portions split to from a division..." is unclear. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The applicant fails to disclose a description of "a bar disc" and "a clutch disc" in the specification. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 3616

6. Claims 1, 12, 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Struss, et al (6,149,166).

Struss, et al discloses a vehicle suspension system comprising a stabilizer bar 30; bar discs 80 connected to the vehicle wheel; a clutch device 70 wherein the clutch device houses the bar discs; and clutch discs 84 which are connected to the vehicle frame. The bar discs and the clutch discs interact to control a level of stiffness of the stabilizer bar.

Struss, et al teaches a plurality of clutch discs and a plurality of bar discs wherein the plurality of discs alternate. The stabilizer bar includes a division 92 which splits the stabilizer bar into equal portions 50, 46 wherein the clutch device housing the division as shown in figure 2.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claims 2, 4 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Struss, et al (6,149,166) in view of Montague (6,305,487).

Struss, et al discloses the claimed invention except for a friction material coated on at least one of the discs. Montague discloses a suspension and drivetrain system comprising friction material wherein the friction material may be provided on a floating friction disks in a clutch disk (see Col. 11, line 66- Col. 12, line 4 and Col. 13, lines 16-21). Based on the teachings of Montague, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the discs of Struss, et al to include a coating of a friction material to reduce motion between the discs. With respect to claim 4, Struss, et al discloses a pair of outer walls 78 flexibly secured to a body of the clutch device and to the stabilizer bar which encloses the discs in combination with the coating of the friction material.

Allowable Subject Matter

9. Claims 3, 5-11 and 15 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

10. Claims 16-20 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

Conclusion

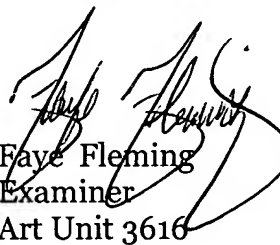

11. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The following references each disclose some features in common with the present invention: Kincad, et al teaches a stabilizer bar and a clutch assembly wherein the stabilizer bar is divided within the clutch, the operation of the clutch assembly and the stabilizer bar reduces vehicle body roll; Hawkins, et al teaches a suspension system comprising a stabilizer bar having two segments and a decoupler designed to provide immediately adaptable handling and ride characteristics; and Hesse teaches a rotary shock absorbers comprising discs similar to the discs disclosed in the claimed invention.
